GUIDE BIOS

Feather Jones is a Registered Clinical Herbalist in Western Herbalism who integrates herbal remedies, holistic nutrition, flower essences and stress reduction guidance. Her 30-year career in teaching herbal medicine and clinical practice, coupled with a background in Native American (Mandan) tribal teachings, provides her clients and students with a synergistic approach to health and healing.

Presently she is Adjunct Professor of Botanical Medicine at the Southwest College of Naturopathic Medicine. As well, Feather was twice past president for the American Herbalists Guild. Her latest creation and focus is a new organic herbal tea company, Sedona Tea Blends. Sedona's famed vortex energies and selected desert flower essences are infused into a mandala of medicinal botanicals that provide a wellness tea for body, mind and spirit.

Topaz Jones is a Certified Team Building/Ropes Course Facilitator at the University of California San Diego. Her passion splits between the synergy of the mental and physical body; where she also holds a Certification in Personal Training and Group Fitness Exercise; which she does privately. Topaz has spent her whole life in the herb community; she embraces the spirit of mother earth and all that she has to offer.

Herbal medicinals is the only thing in this woman's medicine cabinet!

She spent the better half of her life growing up in The Rocky Mountain Center for Botanical Studies herb school and attending field trips and herb walks with her mom. She has always felt that life without herbs is truly missing the vibrational connection between plants and body. She is a believer that earth and plants can heal all. She uses her background in facilitation to connect with large groups of people to help foster education.
